Hamstra Heating & Cooling Staff Now Touts Largest North American Technical Excellence Technicians

Hamstra Heating & Cooling a heating, cooling and ventilation company in Tucson, Arizona since 1983, is proud to announce that they now employ the highest number of North American Technical Excellence (N.A.T.E.) Technicians in Arizona. As of April 1, 2012 Hamstra now employs 22 N.A.T.E. certified technicians and four Building Performance Institute (BPI) residential energy building science experts. All Hamstra technicians have completed exhaustive training and testing and have the highest level of heating, cooling and ventilation certification available in North America. They are thoroughly educated to solve almost every heating and cooling system issue, and for Southern Arizonans that means peace of mind knowing that educated, highly skilled professionals are solving their breakdowns with integrity, expertise and environmental friendliness.

Hamstra Heating & Cooling (HHC) was founded November 1, 1983 by Glenn Hamstra and his two sons, Jeff and David Hamstra. Today, Jeff, David and Wade Hamstra (GM), actively run the business, which is one of Southern Arizona's highest volume heating and cooling companies.

Hamstra Heating & Cooling, prides itself in the highest ethical business practices through continued education and experience.

For more information and expertise on all heating and cooling matters, Jeff or Wade Hamstra are available for expertise on related news stories. Please contact Wade Hamstra, General Manager, at 520-629-9833 extension 322 or by cell at 520-250-1796
